

1nService Partners with SunGard Availability Services to Provide Wide Range of Availability and Cloud Computing Solutions to 1nService Member Community

Bellevue, Wash. – May 24, 2011 – 1nService, a leading network of advanced technology integrators with aggregate sales in excess of $1.5 billion, is pleased to announce the addition of SunGard Availability Services as a supplier member to our reseller network.

With this agreement, 1nService member companies will be able to refer or resell SunGard Availability's comprehensive portfolio of services including managed hosting, storage and recovery, consulting, business continuity software as well as SunGard Availability's Enterprise Cloud Services. SunGard's Enterprise Cloud Services help organizations tap into the efficiency and cost advantages of a fully managed cloud environment with enterprise-grade application availability and security.

1nService member companies interested in referring or reselling SunGard services can also offer SunGard Secure2Disk backup and recovery solutions to perspective customers, which provide organizations with on-site operational restart capabilities and off-site recovery, and seamlessly integrate with a customer's existing backup software.

"Channel partners play a critical role in delivering SunGard's availability solutions to market," said Jim Schwartz, director, Channel Programs, SunGard Availability Services. "We look forward to working with 1nService member companies in helping them address customer needs, solve business challenges and grow their business."

Jo Miller, Executive Director of Partner Relations at 1nService, adds, "Our member companies see great potential in the value SunGard Availability Services can bring to their businesses. SunGard has a 30-year heritage in helping organizations keep their critical applications available. We believe that our Solution Provider members will benefit from the broad range of offerings they can bring to their customers through the SunGard partnership.
