

ANDTEK Brings Unified Communication Solutions to 1nService Team

Bellevue, WA – 1nService, the leading network of advanced technology integrators with aggregate sales in excess of $1.5 billion, is pleased to announce their newest member, ANDTEK, who specializes in Unified Communications solutions.

Headquartered in Germany, ANDTEK also has distribution partners in the United States, France, United Kingdom, Singapore and Spain. ANDTEK is known for their “out-of-box” solutions as well as tailoring solution to a particular customer need.

ANDTEK CEO Roland Russwurm states, “Taking full advantage of unified communications requires applications to integrate your business processes into your communications networks. Therefore your communications infrastructure is far more than just the base for making phone calls – it becomes the base for enhancing your business.”

“We are excited to have ANDTEK join 1nService.” noted Paul Cronin, 1nService CEO. “We are continuously expanding our reach, depth and capabilities, and the addition of ANDTEK will allow us to increase our presence throughout Europe.” added Cronin.
